Dear ladies and gentlemen!

On November 29, the capital of Kazakhstan, Astana, will become the center of meetings of experts and producers of organic agricultural products — the international conference "Qazaq Organic Food", to be held in Radisson Hotel Astana.

Taking into account the special characteristics of Kazakh land areas, as well as the weather and climatic conditions and the specifics of the agricultural production in the country, Kazakhstan has the great potential for growing of organic crops.

We express our highest respect, and would like to invite European companies to participate in the conference Qazaq Organic Food and get acquainted with Kazakh producers of organic crops (grains, pulses, oilseeds) and establish new business contacts for the further cooperation.

Key topics:

- umbrella brand Qazaq Organic Food — expansion of the export opportunities;
- features of requirements to the production of organic agricultural products;
- certification of organic goods production;
- organic project for the Kazakh market;
- organic products trading.

Speakers of the conference:

- major experts who are experienced with the production of organic crops (grains, oilseeds, pulses). They provide certification of products and advise agrarians on the right way to realize organic crops production, in order to get the high income and avoid risks of crop losses, as well as how and to whom to sell organic products;
- suppliers of seeds, organic fertilizers, and crop protection products, agricultural machinery and technical equipment;
- buyers of organic crops.

Take part in Qazaq Organic Food,

and find out about the opportunities of Kazakhstan, and extend your potential to import high-quality organic agricultural products!
